North County Jr. College Site Purchase Urged Soon

"Immediate" acquisition of land in northern San Mateo county for a Northern Junior College campus of San Mateo Junior College district was called for in a report released today by the citizens advisory committee.

The committee, announcing results of an eight-month survey that entailed 19 special meetings, stressed the need to acquire land immediately in the north end of the county to construct a plant to accommodate 3500 students.

The committee urged that construction of buildings start on the northern campus "when- ever it appears that the central campus is about to reach its saturation point of 4000 students."

The advisory group said the northern campus should be established by 1968 at the latest.

Coast Campus
In the 30-page report the committee also recommended a Coast side campus which could accommodate 3500 students, but did not place the immediacy on this branch which was given the northern site.

The report said the coast campus should commence "at or about the time that the student population at the north campus attains its capacity of 3500 students."

While the committee recommended that central and northern campuses be acquired immediately, it emphasized that this did not mean acquisition of a coast campus should be postponed indefinitely. Testimony was received by the committee, estimating that the coast population "will eventually be several hundred thousand," and evidence given that "much of the land on the coast is now being held by subdividers and that the coast may experience the rapid development which has created the present problem for educators in the central and northern portions of the district."

85 Acres
Recommendation was to secure not less than 85 useable acres for the northern campus.

The committee pointed out, however, "that so much time was devoted to the study of a central campus that there was not sufficient opportunity to survey adequately the available sites in the northern part of the district."

The study group considered as favorable, however, sites at Tanforan naval base and the Liebman site near the Coast Guard barracks.

While no minimum acreage was fixed for the coast campus site, the committee said the (Continued on Page 2)

Classroom Equipment

FIRST MOVE INTO W'MOOR MONDAY

Principal Glenn South and his staff of maintenance personnel Monday will begin moving equipment and furniture into the $2.5 million Westmoor High in outer Westlake.

According to Superintendent Ed Morgan, the school's office areas and east classrooms are just about completed. Contractor Dick Meyer previously set a July 15 deadline for delivery of the classrooms.

"Meyer is moving along quickly and we're sure we won't have any trouble moving in the equipment and furniture," Morgan reported.

Approximately 95 per cent of new furniture and equipment for the ultra-modern plant has been purchased. Meyer hasn't indicated when the rest of the school, mainly the gym and cafeteria, will be finished. Floor and glass work in the gym are going full speed, Morgan indicated.

All grading has been completed on the playgrounds and several areas have been seeded.

The contractor, after an extension in January, was supposed to deliver the entire plant on June 24. Repeated delays, caused by shortage of competent tradesmen and materials, have forced him to again exceed the deadline.

The district could enforce a penalty clause against Meyer for failure to deliver on schedule. But since the project should be finished by mid-August, the action is unlikely, trustees feel.

Westmoor, featuring Architect Mario Ciampi's original barrel-vault construction technique, will house 1200 students this fall, coming from west of Junipero Serra boulevard and the North Coastside. The district's other high school, Jefferson, built in the "early 1920's, will handle the same number, serving the area east of Junipero Serra, Brisbane and Bayshore.

Jefferson accommodated more than 2000 students the past school year on a double session schedule.

CITY MULLS FUND SHORTAGE

Valuation
$32 Million
For 1957-58

Daly City's assessed value jumped a surprising 13.5 per cent to $32,530,573, according to preliminary figures released today by County Assessor O. B. Hempstead.

The valuation, nearly $3,000,000 more than estimated by city officials, means that the city will receive another $40,000 in tax revenues heretofore not anticipated.

Hempstead's report showed Daly City's net value, after exemptions, as $32,530,573, as compared with last year's net of $28,098,975, or a jump of more than $4 million.

According to Director of Finance Jerome Scharfman, every million dollars of assessed valuation means another $14,800 in city revenue, based on the $1.48 per $100 valuation tax rate.

The city officials had estimated the increase in valuation would be up about three or four per cent to approximately $29 million, bringing in some $20,000 more in revenue. Hempstead's figures would result in $60,000 more tax revenue over the 1956-57 total.

Some On Tax Bill
While the $40,000 will come as an unexpected windfall to the councilmen who are right now casting about for new forms of revenue, the new assessed valuation will be reflected to some extent on individual taxpayers bills.

One reason the assessment figures have risen so markedly is because this year, for the (Continued on Page 2)

Appleton New JESD Chairman

Attorney Hartley Appleton of Westlake Monday night was elected chairman of Jefferson Elementary school district board of trustees.

Appleton, subject of much controversy during the past year as board clerk, succeeds Mrs. Katherine Mullen, Broadmoor housewife.

Joseph Lewkowitz, gas station proprietor, was chosen new board clerk.

In announcing the annual reorganization, Superintendent H. Z. Weibel said board policy is to rotate duties on a seniority basis. Mike Callan, local builder, preceded Mrs. Mullen as chairman.

Fifth member of the elementary board is Mrs. Doris Wimberly, Westlake housewife. She recently was appointed to replace Henry Kraus, who resigned. Mrs. Wimberly's term expires next year.

DC Car Victim

YAEGER GIRL 'BETTER'

Jackie Yaeger, 12-year-old Colma eighth grader, will live.

This was the report from doctors at Mary's Help hospital today as they said the critically injured Daly City girl "took a turn for the better" Tuesday.

Unconscious since she was knocked down by a car here June 22, Jackie now opens her eyes and is able to consume light food. She does not recognize her parents, however.

A brain specialist and the Yaeger family doctor are constantly at her side. Up until Monday, two special nurses were required.

An exploratory operation was made last week to relieve pressure on Jackie's brain. Doctors then nursed hopes since they discovered no blood clots.

JACKIE YAEGER
... Recovering

Late last week, Jackie wasn't given even a 50-50 chance. If she maintains her present recovery trend, she should survive. But she is severely handicapped for life.

"We've learned the real value of friends," commented a relieved but grief-stricken Mrs. Yaeger, of 465 San Diego avenue. Jackie's father, Clyde, is a dental technician in San Francisco. Her brother, Tim, attends Jefferson High.

Expense has been phenomenal. The Yaegers had no insurance, and Frank Archini, driver of the car, also lacked coverage.

Persons wishing to help the Yaegers should phone them at PL 5-3081.

Tax Petition Ready For July 10 Protest

Daly City set the stage Friday for a July 10 protest hearing before county supervisors in the city-wide fight against "unfair" land and property reassessments.

Petitions bearing more than 2000 signatures of Daly City homeowners, 1000 of them in Westlake alone, were filed Friday with the county clerk. Signatures are still coming in from eight council-authorized districts and the unincorporated areas.

A San Francisco statistician is going over the reassessments here prior to making a complete report for an "expert" appraiser, to be hired by the city. The expert will present Daly City's case, documented by facts, on July 10.

City Attorney Frank Blum indicated that John Bruning, county clerk, has accepted the July 10 protest on the supervisors' calendar.

Councilmen last week authorized a maximum $2500 to pay the expert. Meanwhile, city workers are laboring to make the protest reports fully substantial, checking other county areas for comparisons.

Persons interested in joining the petition move, should call Mrs. Alyce Shea, PL 5-1352, Blum, PL 6-1000, or City Manager Howard Stites, PL 5-0850.

Broadmoor's petition tally last week amounted to 600 signatures. Westlake residents asked at four special centers.

The protest will be concentrated on recent Westlake reassessments, since owners in that area will be affected on immediate tax rolls. The citywide movement via petitions, however, is necessary, the council pointed out, because next year the entire Jefferson Union High School district will be hit by county appraisers.

Several non-Daly City homeowners and a number of North Peninsula golf courses are on the July 10 agenda to protest reassessments.

Forced Off Road, Car Hits Pole, DC Cop Injured

Daly City police officer Charles Terry barely escaped death Saturday morning when a motorist forced his station wagon off Sullivan avenue, causing Terry's vehicle to crash into a telephone pole.

Terry, who lives at 320 Citrus, remained in Junipero Serra hospital at press time. He suffered a black eye, and a shoulder injury.

The inspector said he was going north on Sullivan near Edgemoor road about 5:15 when a Hudson approached from the opposite direction. Blinded by "high" lights, Terry dimmed his. The other driver, however, then crossed over to Terry's lane, forcing the officer to leave the road. The man who caused the mishap sped off, disregarding the crash.

Terry, 32, joined the Daly City force in 1954 and has an outstanding record. Last year he was cited for heroism in rescuing a boy from the surf off Coast highway.

Dog Killer Runs List To Three

County SPCA officials entered Daly City's hunt for a dog killer last Saturday after bodies of two more canines were found sadistically mutilated in the hills of the Crocker estate.

Poundmaster Charles Masciot and police, believing all three deaths to date were perpetrated by the same fiend, summoned county officials for a full investigation.

First case was uncovered two weeks ago when a boxer owned by Police Sgt. Dave Hansen was found buried near Edgemoor playground. Hansen's dog had been missing since mid-April. Decomposition prevented tests to determine cause of death.

The two additional dogs were discovered last week by Richard Henick, in the hills not far from Gambetta street. Head of one of the dogs had been severed, while the second mongrel was missing all four legs, presumably hacked off.

Police and county authorities are re-checking known dog hater in an attempt to get a lead on the slayer. Only a completely depraved person is responsible, they agree.

If caught, the animal destroyer faces sentencing for grand theft and cruelty to animals. Judges throughout the state are not particularly lenient on the latter charge.

SEWAGE DISTRICT VIEWS TAX CUT

It's not official, but North San Mateo County Sanitation district directors are looking forward to a one to three cent tax rate cut for the 1957-58 fiscal year despite a $17,000 increase in the budget just passed.

The 1957-58 outlay will be $134,650, compared with the current year's $117,757.81 budget.

The present tax rate, 27.8 cents per $100 valuation, will probably be slashed up to three cents when county supervisors officially establish the levy in August. Increase in population and assessed valuation make the reduction, according to Director Michael De Bernardi.

A five per cent pay increase for the district's seven employees, confirmed by directors Monday, accounts for a part of the budget hike. Another major item in the increase is the supplemental trunk sewer at 87th and Washington streets, bids for which were received this week and held over for further study. The four proposals ranged from a law of $27,958, submitted by Associated Pipeline, to McGuire & Hester's $54,336 figure. Engineer C. L. White will recommend awarding contract to a qualified bidder at the July 15 session.

In other action Monday, directors approved a $9 annual fee for property owners outside the district who receive sewer service.

Tax Hike Seen As Council OK's Budget

After whacking off $143,609 preparatory to passing a $1,319,345 preliminary budget Friday night, the city council this week began to investigate new taxes and fees which might raise the $110,000 deficit still facing the city for 1957-58.

A seven-cent tax raise to $1.55 per $100 still appears imminent.

After perusing each department budget Friday, the council made the following major cuts: general fund, $109,088; library, $27,416; parks, $7104.

The $1,319,345 preliminary budget, which will stand until final adoption later this summer, was whittled from the $1,463,000 originally proposed by department heads and the city manager.

118,495 Over 56-57
The preliminary budget is $118,495 over the 1956-57 total, but City Manager Howard Stites said that of the total increment, $106,000 was for automatic salary increases which could not be altered.

He maintained that in reality the coming year's budget was only $12,000 over this year's, minus salary increases, and that with increased commodity costs, "the city will actually operate on less dollars in 1957-58 despite the increased population."

Councilman Michael De Bernardi voiced the lone protest against the budget as adopted Friday, holding out for sweeping cuts in administrative personnel. His plan for doing away with many of the "top brass" was rejected, 3-1. Councilman Sanford Vickers was absent.

De Bernardi had asked elimination of the positions of administrative assistant, public works director, assistant police chief, buyer and severe cuts throughout the engineering department. He claimed that his budget reductions combined with others made by the council, would leave only a total of $32,000 to raise with new revenue.

Pay Hike Sought For City Staff

Personnel board's recommendation for an across the board pay increase of five per cent for all municipal employees, effective July 1, was received by the city council Friday.

Councilmen took no action on the board's proposals. Employees had asked a blanket 10 per cent increase, which would have cost an estimated $70,000 a year extra for salaries.

The board also recommended that employees receive three weeks paid vacation after seven years service, four weeks after 15 years. Employees had sought the three weeks after five years.

Reduction in firemen's work week from 65 to 64 hours was approved, although the firemen had asked that the week be cut to 60 hours.

Holidays and time-off will remain the same under the board's recommendation, except for police and firemen, who will receive a day off in lieu of a holiday if they have to work on a holiday.

Other requests made by the Daly City Police and Firemen's association were rejected by the board. They included requests for a city-paid life insurance plan, $75 a year uniform allowance, 120 days accumulated sick leave, 11 full paid holidays a year, time and a half for overtime or the equivalent in time off.

Daly City Employees Union Local 919 requested only the 10 per cent wage increase and the three-weeks vacation, remainder of the proposals coming from the recently-formed Daly City Police and Firemen's association.

Poundmaster CHARLEY MASCHINOT is off for Napa (not the state hospital) for a two-week vacation. He's visiting his family there.

Before departing he left us with these figures of note: There are 3000 dogs in Daly City, 5000 cats, meaning the human population outranks the dog and cat roster by 4 to 1.

He didn't have any count on fire hydrants, but you can bet that it's dogs with the favorable odds at least 10 to 1.

This scribe just returned from the high mountain haunts, where the fish, leisure and sunshine were plentiful. Yes, thanks, I had a fine vacation.

Theater Site For Super Mart

The old Daly City Theater will be site for a $500,000 super market, according to announcement made today by Arthur C. Weikert, president of Pacific Markets.

Weikert and John W. Roeth, secretary of the firm, announced signing of a lease with Marshall Nally, president, and R. A. Nally, secretary, of Excelsior Amusement Co., owners of the theater building bounded by Mission and Flournoy streets and San Jose avenue.

According to Weikert, the theater will be completely remodeled, parking lots leveled and surfaced to accommodate 75 vehicles, and old store fronts removed to make room for more parking.

The market will face on Mission, San Jose and Flournoy and will include 15,000 square feet of sales and storage area.

The new establishment will be known as Daly City Market.

The market will include meat, groceries, produce, fish, poultry, delicatessen, frozen foods, bakery and liquor departments.

Charles Dougherty, former Daly City resident, will act as vice president and general manager of the new Daly City market.

Construction of the market is scheduled to get underway soon, with October set as date for the opening.

STILL TIME TO CHOP THAT BUDGET

Councilmen Friday approved a $1,319,345 preliminary city budget that could necessitate at least a seven cent tax raise and sundry other fees, charges and increases in costs of services that are in essence increased taxes.

In estimating revenues against expenditures, the council based its income from property taxes on a valuation of some $29,000,000. Since that time County Assessor O. B. Hempstead has revealed Daly City's total value as approximately $32,500,000, an increase of about $4,000,000 over last year and $3,500,000 above the city's original prediction.

This means that Daly City will have approximately $40,000 more tax revenue than the council estimated. So the $110,000 fund shortage cited by city fathers is really only $70,000.

And perhaps, in the coming weeks before the final budget is adopted this $70,000 can be shaved to a figure that will not only eliminate need for new revenue sources, but will allow the city to maintain the $1.48 per $100 tax rate.

We think Councilman Michael De Bernardi's minority opinions Friday were good ones and would just about pare the budget to a sensible total.

He spoke out generally against high echelon personnel, specifically for eliminating such jobs as administrative assistant, public works director, assistant police chief, buyer and various engineering department underlings.

By doing away with some of these jobs the council might be able to restore needed manpower to the police department and other facilities now under the forced austerity program.

Even if the $1.48 rate is maintained Daly City residents will be paying increased taxes because this year the city will adopt the county assessment roll, which places higher valuation on property than the city has in the past.

If the council on top of this piles a tax rate increase, increased garbage rate costs, stiffer fines for parking meter violations, higher water rates, business licenses, a new taxing district for street lighting, etc., citizens might be paying as much as 50 per cent more in "taxes," direct and indirect.

With a record high total valuation, up 13.5 per cent over the previous year, Daly City should be able to finance its government without extraordinary levies.

Brisbane Awaits Clean-up Project

"Operation Broomstick," designed to beautify the hillside community of Brisbane, has been set for Saturday, July 13, it was announced today.

Brisbane Homeowners Association and the Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the campaign, met Monday night to finalize plans.

Residents are asked to participate by cleaning up yards, lots and streets. Also necessary are grass cutting and hedge trimming. Brisbaneans should leave the leftovers in bundles, boxes or sacks at curbside for pickup service. No paper or metals should be left since these will be used for Boy Scout drives.

Persons wishing more information should call J. Todd, project chairman, JU 4-2668.

Housewife Arrested On Drunkenness Charge

A 52-year-old Daly City housewife was arrested Saturday night after officers found her "in a drunken condition" in front of her home.

Mrs. Aooah Nordin, a bookkeeper, of 114 Parkview avenue, was released on $25 bail to appear in court next Tuesday.

Paint Is Stolen From Westmoor High

Eight two-gallon cans of white paint were stolen from a storage shed at the new Westmoor High School over the weekend, police reported today.

W. G. Thompson, painting contractor, valued the loss at $40.

The general contractor employs a guard on a round-the-clock basis.

Hub Pacific Awarded Colma School Contract

Hub Pacific company, lowest of four bidders, Monday was awarded a $36,900 contract for alterations and additional construction at Colma school.

All three rejected bids were in excess of $40,000, according to Superintendent H. Z. Weibel.

Hub Pacific currently is building Vista Grande primary school, a six-classroom structure, off Thiers and Wyandotte streets.

Something For Everyone

By The Staff Of The
Daly City Public Library

Interest in American's past has boomed in recent years, and books on this fascinating subject are most popular at the Daly City public library and its Westlake - Broadmoor branch.

Author Bruce Catton, whose Civil War book, THIS HALLOWED GROUND, has recently been on the best-seller list, feels that this stepped-up interest lies in the fact that the past is being presented from the standpoint of ordinary people rather than as a majestic pageant. No period of our history has received more attention than the Civil War period, Mr. Catton's specialty. The popularity of his latest book has also brought renewed interest in some of his earlier books on the subject: THE STILLNESS AT APPOMATOX, GLORY ROAD, and U.S. GRANT AND THE AMERICAN MILITARY TRADITION. Other popular books on the period are GRAY FOX: ROBERT E. LEE AND THE CIVIL WAR, by Burke Davis, GRAY GHOSTS AND REBEL RAIDERS, by Virgil Jones, and THE BLUE AND THE GRAY, by Henry Steele Commager.

There has also been a rash of biographies with special attention focused on Lincoln and the Civil War period. Among the recent volumes are THE LIVING LINCOLN, edited by Paul Angle from the President's own writings, Jim Bishop's THE DAY LINCOLN WAS SHOT, and Ruth Painter Randall's LINCOLN'S SONS. Others concerning prominent figures of the Civil War period are Thomas and Marva Belden's SO FELL THE ANGELS, about Salmon P. Chase and his daughter; Isabel Ross's ANGEL OF THE BATTLEFIELD, about Clara Barton; ROBERT E. LEE, by Earl Schenck Miers; SICKLES THE INCREDIBLE, by W. A. Swanberg; and MATHEW BRADY, HISTORIAN WITH A CAMERA, by James David Horan.

Civil War fiction has always been popular, and the tremendous impact of GONE WITH THE WIND more than 20 years ago has brought a resurgence of interest in that theme. MacKinlay Kantor's ANDERSONVILLE topped the best-seller lists for months and won the Pulitzer Prize last year. There were several others almost as good: ROLL, SHENANDOAH, by Bruce Lancaster; THE HORSE SOLDIERS, by Harold Sinclair; JOHN BRICK'S JUBILEE; OUR VALIANT FEW, by Van Wyck Mason; CAPTAIN LITTLE AX, by James Street, and Garland Roark's THE OUTLAWED BANNER.

For these and other books on the Civil War and other aspects of our national history and heritage, consult the Daly City public library, 6351 Mission street, or the Westlake-Broadmoor branch library, 34 Park Plaza drive, in the Westlake shopping center. Try your public library first, because your library has something for everyone!

Letters To The Editor

Marchbanks Park Not Up To Par, Claims Ball Fan

Dear Mr. Bradshaw:

Daly City is very lucky to have such a wonderful park as Marchbanks. The baseball field is superior to nearly all of the diamonds at San Francisco parks, the playfield is ideal, and Marchbanks is equipped with a fine field house, and even rest rooms for the comfortable grandstand.

But why have rest rooms near the grandstand—if they remain locked while baseball games are in progress and the nearest filling station is quite a hike? Even umpires are human, and sometimes a game has to be delayed while the "blind Tom" hustles the block each way to patronize the gasoline dispensaries on Junipero Serra.

Fans who enjoy good sandlot baseball and players who sometimes desire to change uniforms just have to have better staying power because someone doesn't show up with a key.

The baseball diamond is in good condition, and the grass has been watered well, and cut regularly, but the base lines weren't laid all season until Sunday. The permanent foul lines are no longer white, and the bases that DC taxpayers bought are like new, for they are never at their usual places.

True, last Sunday, somebody tried to get on the ball, and there were lines (of a sort), the rest rooms were open (but filthy), but it seems a shame that one of Daly City's finest assets doesn't get better attention.

Sincerely,
DC Baseball Fan

Cigarettes Prove Laborer's Downfall

Jesse Bee Davis, 53-year-old San Francisco laborer, decided to stock up on cigarettes here Saturday.

He walked into Spotlite market, 11 Hillside boulevard, placed 12 cartons of cigarettes into two paper bags, then strolled out.

Manager Lauren Cheda was close on his heels. Seems Jesse didn't pay for the smokes. Officers booked him for shoplifting.

Bail was set at $250 cash or $500 bond, with a trip to court scheduled later this week.

Local Recruiter Seeks Navy Vets

There are a number of recently discharged Navy men who may return to the Navy with a higher rating, according to Chief Leo J. Polhemus, recruiter in charge of the Navy Recruiting Station, 6705 Mission street.

Chief Polhemus said that the Navy has a new policy whereby former Navy men who were successful candidates for advancement as a result of the February 1957 service-wide examination but who were transferred for discharge prior to the receipt of the advancement list by their former Commanding Officers, may come back into the Navy with the higher rate.

To receive the higher rate veterans must reenlist within continuous service status, that is, within three calendar months of discharge date.

Chief Polhemus went on to say he will receive notification here of any men in the area who fall into this category, but if there is any doubt in the minds of recently discharged Navy men, they should contact the recruiting office.

BROADMOOR LIST SOARS ON PROTEST TO RE-APPRAISAL

Signatures on petitions protesting the county's re-appraisal of property here soared to nearly 1000 in Broadmoor and Garden Village this week, according to Broadmoor Property Owners association president Ed Lee.

The petitions will be presented to county supervisors along with Daly City's official protest next Wednesday.

Lee and Don Williams, chairman for the BPOA protest drive, said 857 Broadmoor residents had signed the petitions, while 93 Garden Villagers had officially registered their opposition to the "unfair" re-appraisals.

The BPOA will hold its regular meeting next Thursday and will hear reports from Bob Buchanan on the proposed civil disaster program which will be coordinated with the PTAS.

Construction Here For June Still Way Below Par

Building in Daly City during June almost kept pace with the figure for May, with a total of 55 building permits issued last month for construction amounting to $270,943. But the June total lagged far behind figures of recent years.

In May, 69 permits were granted for $287,464, according to Otis Calhoun, public works director.

The June total included 32 new dwellings, 25 of them in Westlake, amounting to $257,118 in construction.

Additional June permits: Alteration to dwellings, 16, for $10,525; alterations to commercial buildings, 2, $1800; signs, 4, $1400; transfer of buildings, 2, $50, and one demolition, $100.

Peak construction for the year came in April when 101 permits were issued for $673,374 in construction. Eighty new dwellings were launched that month. The April figure was a "welcome" comeback from the nation-wide lull in March.

Finance Director Cites DC's Low Per Capita Costs

Daly City's per capita cost of government is among the lowest in San Mateo county, according to figures submitted to the council Friday by Jerome Scharfman, director of finance.

Scharfman's comparative per capita cost of government report showed Daly City's figure for 1955-56 as $36.46, compared with San Carlos, $42.02; South San Francisco, $44.33; San Bruno, $50.73; Millbrae, $57.10; Burlingame, $68.06; and Redwood City, $97.88.

The 1956-57 figure, though not yet available, should show Daly City's government cost per capita at $37, Scharfman said.

In previous years, Daly City's per capita costs were as follows: 1954-55—$37.28; 1953-54—$34.51; 1952-53—$32.23.

Scharfman said that a seven per cent annual increment in cost of government was normal, due to increased costs of commodities.

Loud Feud Sends Couple To Court On Drunk Counts

A family spat Saturday night gave a Daly City couple free tickets to municipal court next week to face drunkenness charges.

Melvin and Gladys Dillingham, 1057 Brunswick street, got a bit loud during an argument and a neighbor phoned police. Officers ruled both had too much to drink.

At the station, Mrs. Dillingham tried to bite her captors en route to the clink. Melvin wasn't so belligerent, according to the report.

Melvin, 60, a rigger, and Gladys, 49, a nurse, were released on $25 cash each. Judge Thomas L. Bocci Jr. will greet them next Tuesday morning.

A native of Germany and a widower, he was employed as an engineer before retirement. Affiliations included membership in the Veteran Firemen's association of Daly City.

Services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at Lasswell's. Cremation followed at Olivet Memorial park.

Brisbane Probes Establishment Of Sanitation District

A study on costs of assuming duties of a sanitation district was called for Tuesday night at a special meeting of the Brisbane Water district, attended by some 50 residents.

Faced with an ultimate directive from the state water pollution board to stop dumping raw Brisbane sewage into the bay, district directors moved cautiously to take over the sanitation services.

A study on costs of such a move were ordered, but the motion stipulated that the water district would not be held legally responsible if it decided to get out from under the new duties.

Long range plan under the newly-assumed duties would be construction of a sewage treatment plant to be financed by sale of bonds.

Also to be explored is possibility of Brisbane, Bayshore and Crocker areas entering into a joint sanitation district operation.

Council, Trustees Make Proposal On Market Street

The city council and Jefferson Elementary school board came to tentative terms last Thursday for an assessment project to improve Market street in front of Colma school.

Trustees protested the need for a 48-inch drainage pipe in the last block of the prescribed area, voicing willingness to pay only the cost of a 12-inch pipe. The first proposal, trustees felt, will benefit subdividers and the city and not the schools.

Market street improvements include these proposed outlays: city, $35,293; Lagomarsino, $24,234; JESD, $9094; Caserza, $3846, and PG&E, $2920 — a total of $78,193.

The project includes paving the street, widening it by some five feet, installation of storm drains, plus curbing and a gutter on the north side.

The sanitary district would pay for sewage facilities, while re-paving would be footed by the city at a shared total of $49,480.

Storm drains cost $49,840, sidewalks, $2680, curbs and gutters, $4651, and paving $21,069. Gas tax revenues from the state will supply $35,293 for the work.

The council and school board also accepted Mayor Joe Verducci's "compromise" plan for extending water mains to Ben Franklin and Garden Village schools.

The school district will pay the cost of extending the water pipe some 300 feet to the city line, while the city will pay for enlarging the pipe to eight inches.

Water will be supplied the school district at cost, but when San Francisco water is used, the district will have to pay. The district at present cannot use San Francisco water department mains, chiefly because they are too small or lack sufficient water pressure.

Two For Tonight

By Leonore Browes

Scrounging around for an odd thought or two for this week's effort, we ran across a column which never got past the composing room. Ordinarily, such a column is down the drain forever, but thanks to Darryl F. Zanuck, we can revive the major part of this one.

A little squib in one of the trade papers announced that Zanuck had returned from Europe to prepare to film "Compulsion." This gives us a chance to exhume our thoughts of a few weeks ago.

Meyer Levin's novel analyzes a famous murder case—Leopold and Loeb. In the more than quarter of a century since these two brilliant young men of very rich background committed what they intended to be a "perfect" murder, there have been dozens of cases just as cold-blooded and just as loathsome. For some reason, Leopold and Loeb remain in the public memory while other brutal young murderers (anyone remember William Heirens?) are forgotten. Perhaps their having Clarence Darrow for the defense is the reason.

Too Pat

The macabre details are told with a clinical detachment which precludes any feeling of shock on the part of the reader. The conclusion drawn as to the motivations of these twisted geniuses seem pretty far-fetched and a lot of loose ends are tied together a bit too patly, but it presents a fascinating study nonetheless.

At about page 425 Darrow begins to sum up his case and make his plea. We disagree with a lot of his theories on crime and punishment, but in reading the hundred page condensation of his beautifully turned phrases (this phase of the trial took four days) we were almost convinced. Those interested may find "Compulsion" at the Daly City Library.

Our guess is that it will be presented on the screen via flash-backs. This will enable them to retain one of the most dramatic trial scenes in legal history, but by splitting it into convenient chunks, the movie will still "move" and the audience's attention will be held.

Great Role

Most important will be the actor chosen to play Darrow. Having seen "Inherit the Wind," starring Melvyn Douglas as the great lawyer, we are partial toward this former matinee idol who entered the big league with one giant step.

Our only suggestion for the casting for L and L is that they not have been previously "type-cast" as hoodies; they seem to be the type of clean-cut young men who might be living down the street from you.

We'll be watching to see who Mr. Z picks and we'll let you know.

Trustees Reveal Pay Hike Message To Supt. Morgan

(Editor's Note: Following was statement of trustees last week when they awarded Edward D. Morgan, Jefferson Union High School District superintendent, a salary raise and new four-year contract.)

"We are indeed fortunate to have a man of the caliber of Mr. Morgan as the chief executive of our high school district. He came to us when the affairs of the district were in a turmoil. He has done a remarkable job of meeting the problems of the present while at the same time planning well for the future. The board of trustees are unanimous in the belief Mr. Morgan has performed brilliantly in one of the most exacting and vital positions in a community, and that such service is deserving of the district's recognition and appreciation."

The statement was drafted by Don Miller, trustee from the Coastside and former newspaperman, and read at the board meeting by Lyl Ingersoll, board chairman.

Car's Brakes Fail, Kentfield Housewife Plows Into Garage

Defective brakes on her car gave a young Kentfield housewife a few nervous moments Friday afternoon in Westlake.

Attempting to make a right turn off Pinehaven drive onto Woodwood avenue, Mrs. Esther Borruso couldn't slow down.

Her car plowed over the curb at 962 Woodwood, ran across the lawn, and rammed into a garage at 960 Woodwood, causing heavy damage.

Officer Richard DeLosa cited the housewife for faulty brakes on the '56 sedan.

Mrs. Borruso suffered a nose cut, her passenger a sprained ankle. Both refused medical attention here.

PARKMERCEDES'S Dale Norén and Barry Wickliffe follow tradition after recent nuptials at Temple Methodist church.

Miss Dale Dauler Weds Texas Student

Wedding of Miss Dale Norén Dauler of Parkmerced to Barry Eugene Wickliffe of Lubbock, Texas, was solemnized recently at Temple Methodist church, with Rev. L. K. Whitfield officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Dauler, 100 Font boulevard. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Wickliffe of Lubbock are parents of the groom. Barry is attending the Academy of Advertising Art in San Francisco.

Dale's nuptial costume was a white, ballerina length bouffant gown, nylon tulle over satin, applique and seed pearl trim. Fleur d'amour and white orchids constituted the bridal bouquet.

Miss Eleanor Gruhn was maid of honor. Miss Rosemary Kay, the groom's cousin, was bridesmaid. Nadine Paine was junior bridesmaid.

Best man duties were accepted by Richard Cooper, while Joris Martin and John Pellerin were ushers.

Reception was held at Rick's Red Chimney in Stonestown. Special guests were the groom's relatives from Lubbock.

The couple plan to reside in San Francisco when they return from a honeymoon in Carmel.

GRADUATION PARTY

Hawaii Theme Heads Hillside PTA Fete

An Hawaiian theme with all the trimmings featured recent graduation dance and party in Colma intermediate school's colorfully decorated multi-purpose room.

Hillside PTA was responsible for the gala affair, converting the premises into an island-like setting, complete with flowers and music.

The "live" music was supplied by Elmer Vincent Jr. and his orchestra from Saratoga, thanks to Local No. 6 of American Federation of Musicians, AFL-CIO, through a grant from trust funds of the recording industries. "Pop" Kennedy arranged the appearance.

Highlight of the evening was singing of "Goodnight Sweetheart" by Principal Bernard Gerdes, his final "message" to the graduates.

Hillside PTA also went all-out the last day of school, sponsoring promotion parties at both schools. Room representatives doing a big job were Mrs. Elmer Mienzer, Mrs. Don Wingate, Mrs. Jean Fisher, Ice cream, cookies and punch were enjoyed by the youngsters.

Episcopalians Await Bids For Church

Showing Westlake and Daly City to be a favorable location for investment by San Francisco financiers, St. Martin's Episcopal church last week stated that the area it serves can expect a population of 55,000 in the next few years.

In a brochure prepared by the Rev. Allen J. Downey, vicar, and the building fund committee, composed of Frank Blum, chairman, Hubert Arthur, Glenhall Taylor, and Joseph Bonavito, aerial photographs taken in 1951 and 1957 were used to illustrate the locality's recent phenomenal growth.

Information supplied to Bishop Karl Morgan Block of the Diocese of California for use in securing a loan for the building to be erected at Southgate avenue and Bradley drive, pointed out that of the 200 families now on the membership list, 104 have made pledges for building and/or operating funds and 60 additional families are also contributing. In less than two years' operation, the congregation has raised $8600 cash and pledges of $24,000 for the building.

Bids for construction of the combination church and parish hall, seating 300 persons, with kitchen and office facilities, and with space for eight classrooms, will be opened July 16. Ground-breaking ceremonies are tentatively planned for sometime in August, and dedication of the building by Christmas this year.

Services are presently held in Westlake auditorium, 333 Park Plaza drive, and the vicarage is at 94 Palmdale avenue.

PERSONALITY SKETCH: The tall distinguished man extended his hand... and with a twinkle in his eye said... "And who are you?" So was my "informal" introduction to Bennett Cerf, distinguished author, humorist, publisher and TV personality on "What's My Line?" We liked him immediately. Poised and dynamic, he also has a warm, genuine quality that is the mark of a truly great man. As he stood surrounded by the press busily taking notes and firing questions, he was gracious and cooperative... answering questions always with genuine good humor and that twinkle in his eye.

Founder and president of Random House, he made his only television appearance in the Bay Area on KQED's popular series "Books and Authors" with host Jack Geoghegan. "The Man From Publisher's Row." The program was kine-scoped in KQED's studios, and was telecast recently.

TV Influence
We were particularly interested in Mr. Cerf's views on the influence of television on the reading habits of the public, particularly youngsters. He told us that the number of juvenile books published by his company is on the increase. He believes that children will grow up better informed and more sophisticated because of television. He said that he has two boys, ages 11 and 15. They sounded like typical American youngsters, because the only time they were interested in attending his television program was when the guest star was a baseball hero. "Books and Authors" is presented by KQED in cooperation with the Northern California Booksellers association. With able host Geoghegan giving concise and interesting reviews on current bestselling books, as well as news items about the publishing industry, the program is entertaining as well as informative. Another outstanding "live" Channel 9 telecast!

Briefs
NEWS BRIEFS... Announcement has been made by Hallmark Cards that prints of the NBC-TV colorcast of "Cradle Song" will be made available to high schools and colleges free of charge. Distribution locally will be handled by Association Films, 351 Turk street, San Francisco.

Founder and president of Random House, he made his only television appearance in the Bay Area on KQED's popular series "Books and Authors" with host Jack Geoghegan. "The Man From Publisher's Row." The program was kine-scoped in KQED's studios, and was telecast recently.

TV Influence
We were particularly interested in Mr. Cerf's views on the influence of television on the reading habits of the public, particularly youngsters. He told us that the number of juvenile books published by his company is on the increase. He believes that children will grow up better informed and more sophisticated because of television. He said that he has two boys, ages 11 and 15. They sounded like typical American youngsters, because the only time they were interested in attending his television program was when the guest star was a baseball hero. "Books and Authors" is presented by KQED in cooperation with the Northern California Booksellers association. With able host Geoghegan giving concise and interesting reviews on current bestselling books, as well as news items about the publishing industry, the program is entertaining as well as informative. Another outstanding "live" Channel 9 telecast!

PERSONALITY SKETCH: The tall distinguished man extended his hand... and with a twinkle in his eye said... "And who are you?" So was my "informal" introduction to Bennett Cerf, distinguished author, humorist, publisher and TV personality on "What's My Line?" We liked him immediately. Poised and dynamic, he also has a warm, genuine quality that is the mark of a truly great man. As he stood surrounded by the press busily taking notes and firing questions, he was gracious and cooperative... answering questions always with genuine good humor and that twinkle in his eye.

Founder and president of Random House, he made his only television appearance in the Bay Area on KQED's popular series "Books and Authors" with host Jack Geoghegan. "The Man From Publisher's Row." The program was kine-scoped in KQED's studios, and was telecast recently.

Police Department Steps Up Accident Prevention Drive

The city of Daly City is participating in the state-wide Accident Prevention Contest which runs through the Labor Day holiday, according to Police Chief Roland Petrocchi.

This activity is sponsored to place a special emphasis on traffic control, designed to lower the accident fatality and severity rate here.

Winners are determined on a population-death rate basis (numbers of deaths per 100,000 population). "Let's put our city behind this crusade 100% and be the first place winner," Petrocchi urged.

The program is sponsored by the California Association of Insurance Agents, coordinated by the National Automobile Club and administered by the California Traffic Safety Foundation.

"Between Memorial Day and Labor Day there are more cars on our highways than at any other time of the year," Petrocchi reminded. We hope all motorists will support this effort by operating their motor vehicles in a sensible, courteous and law-abiding manner. An automobile can be a thing of great convenience and a source of much pleasure. Improperly and inconsiderately operated it may become an uncontrollable, lethal weapon.

The rules of the road are designed for the motorist's protection and should be observed diligently. "Petrocchi continued. Misuses of speed can kill—so all motorists should keep this in mind and adjust their driving to conditions."

'FAMILY' PROMOTED

Army Keeps W'lake Pair Happy

FAMILY AFFAIR — Double promotion is celebrated by this Daly City career Army couple, as newly-commissioned Second Lieutenant Lillian N. Wagner saws extra stripe on the sleeve of her husband, newly-promoted Master Sergeant Jack A. Wagner. Both are stationed at Fort Mason in San Francisco. The couple lives at 383 Skyline drive in Westlake.

Promotion became a family affair this month for a Daly City career Army couple, with husband and wife each taking a big step up the promotion ladder.

They are the Jack A. Wagners of 383 Skyline drive, both of whom are on active military duty at Fort Mason in San Francisco.

Husband Jack became a master sergeant, top grade of the enlisted categories, in mid-June. And into the commissioned ranks went his wife, Sergeant Lillian N. Wagner, who was sworn in last week as a second lieutenant in the Army Reserve.

Sergeant (Mrs.) Wagner is slated to go on active commissioned duty in August, when she will report to Fort McClellan, Ala., for five months' officer training.

Their separation will not be long, however, as Master Sergeant Wagner plans to retire next year with 28½ years' service and join his wife wherever she's assigned. After additional Reserve duty to complete 30 years, he will revert to retired status in the highest rank he has held which is, happily, that of second lieutenant.

Meanwhile, a full-length career in the Army is planned by Sergeant Lillian, who demonstrated her intentions by re-enlisting last January for a second six-year hitch.

The couple met shortly after Lillian's assignment to the Bay Area in May 1955, and were married in November of that year.

Master Sergeant Wagner is the non-commissioned officer in charge of the personnel processing detachment at Fort Mason, and the lady member of the team is supply sergeant for the Fort Mason WAC detachment.

BURGLARY HERE FOLLOWS PATTERN IN OTHER CITIES

A Mission street auto dealer was victimized to the tune of more than $3000 last week, as burglars pried their way into his display room and escaped with six outboard motors valued at $1139 and a 1953 Cadillac worth $2000.

Leon Vronis, 4 Crestwood drive, owner of Leon's used cars, 7422 Mission street, said the culprits entered the building sometime between Thursday night and Friday morning, breaking into the premises by smashing a window and unlocking the door.

Broadmoor police Chief Ray Savage said his department was stumped so far and indicated the crime followed pattern of recent break-ins as far away as Oakland and Stockton. He said in each case only Scott-Atwater outboard motors were stolen.

SF Funeral Company Observes 107th Year

The pioneer San Francisco firm of N. Gray & Co. is celebrating its 107th anniversary Monday, according to Kendrick W. Miller, president.

One of the nation's oldest funeral directors, the company was founded in 1850 by Miller's great-grandfather, Nathaniel Gray. Starting with a mule-drawn hearse, a wooden building and a few caskets in the hectic days of the Gold rush, N. Gray & Co. is now one of the largest firms of its kind in Northern California, with two complete establishments in San Francisco and one, under the name of Crosby-N. Gray & Co., in Burlingame.

The second of Gray's two San Francisco chapels opened last September at 19th avenue and Sargent street and, according to Miller, has successfully filled a need for more funeral service facilities in that fast-growing area of the city.

Snell PTA president, urges all parents and members to volunteer their services to the summer recreation programs being held at the Benjamin Franklin and Garden Village schools. All interested persons may contact the directors at the playgrounds or call Mrs. John Mitchell, PL 5-0679, Mrs. Irwin Cohen, PL 6-0460 or Mrs. Fred Smith, PL 5-8648.

Benjamin Franklin school, whose facilities are being primarily used for children in the fifth grade and above need helpers in the game room during the hours from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. The arts and crafts room needs an assistant from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

Garden Village school, catering largely to kindergarten to fifth grade children, need volunteers for their arts and crafts room from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. and in the library from 10:30 to 12 noon and from 2 to 4 p.m. Interested mothers of pre-school children are asked to volunteer for the playground apparatus area from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Both schools have movie time on Monday afternoon and Thursdays are special event days, which do not require room assistants. Volunteers may choose any other days and hours, regularly or when convenient. The two hour periods may be taken in one hour sections, if this is more satisfactory.

CHRISTMAN, KROHN HURL WINS

Daly City Drug Squad Thunders On, Registers Indentical Shutouts, 7-0

Terry Christman of Daly City Drugs hurled a one-hitter against Sports Center Bowl at Balboa Park last Saturday, winning 7-0, and teammate Barry Krohn came back with a two-hitter at Marchbanks Sunday, winning by the same score over the previously unbeaten Coastside Lions.

Christman held the Sports Center nine hitless until two were out in the fifth. Jerry Ard, normally a good-hitting pitcher, slapped their only hit into centerfield. Ard reached second when Terry walked the next batter. Only one other runner reached second as Christman walked only two, hit one batter and struck out four.

Billy Hix returned to short after being away for two weeks. He batted two for two and scored twice, getting an RBI and a stolen base. Georgie Claus drove in three runs with a double in the five-run second inning when the Creighton-Krohn kids combined hits by O'Leary and Hix with three misuses.

Sharp defensive plays by Mike Wall, Claus, Mike Rovai and Hix helped in the clutch, and meant win number two in the Recreation League.

Krohn was touched for two "fluke" hits (both fell between short and centerfield) while he struck out six and walked five to gather his second win in as many weeks. Barry also had a good day at bat, stroking two for three.

Mike Rovai really found Dave Kotta, Coastside hurler, to his liking, getting four for five, one a double that brought in two runs. Danny Luciano also went two for three with an RBI and a stolen base. Billy Hix continued to pound the ball with another perfect day—two for two and an RBI.

Tom Bournellis Druggists will meet Milano Inn in their third league game at Balboa Park at noon this Saturday. Another tilt is set for Marchbanks at 11 a.m. on Sunday. Foe at Marchbanks this Sunday is St. Gabriel's Spartans.

GIUSTI SHOOTS 75, QUALIFIES FOR NATIONAL JR. TOURNEY

Wayne Giusti, 16-year-old Jefferson High school golfer, shared medal honors with a 75 at Lake Merced Tuesday to qualify for the U. S. Golf association Junior Championship Tournament at Washington, D. C. July 17-20.

It marked the first time a Daly City youngster has qualified for the important national tournament, in which 128 junior golfers (17 and under) throughout the country will compete.

Accompanying Giusti from Northern California will be Keith Mattos of Hillside and Henry Schumano of San Francisco, who also posted 75s Tuesday, and Gary Olson of Turlock, who carded a 76. Forty eight competed for the coveted four spots here Tuesday.

Giusti, No. 1 golfer on the Jeff varsity this past season and a part-time caddy at Lake Merced, will leave with the Northern California contingent by plane July 13.

Giusti is son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Giusti, 6785 Mission street.

Meanwhile, Daly City's golfing policeman, Art Linhares, will attempt to qualify for the fourth year next Sunday when 36-hole eliminations start at Harding for the National Public Links tournament.

Richfield's Bob Hood, protégé of oil magnate Frank Monte, closed the door on Shannon with a three-hitter. Clean-up man Matzch and third sacker Mikey DeBernardi collected five of the seven Richfield hits.

Four base hits by Bournellis and the five-hit hurling of Holm meant the difference as the Dodgers fell to the Druggists. Greish and Longa got two hits apiece for the losers.

Four games are on tap this week under a revised schedule. The foes: Stumble Inn and the Druids, Lagomarsino's and the Richfield, Lodge and Shannon, and Ralph's against DC Drugs.

SOFTBALL LOOP

Unbeaten Cleaners Cop Lead Via 34-6 Victory

Ralph's Cleaners grabbed undisputed first place in the City Twilight Softball League last week, thumping Stumble Inn, 34-6, while Westlake Lodge was dumped from the unbeaten ranks, 8-3, by Daly City Drugs.

Westlake Richfield made it 1-1 with a 6-1 win over Shannon Hardware. The hardware corps also is .500 to date.

Ralph's juggernaut was paced by the two-for-two plate work of Pat Cassidy, Bill Mendoza and Ralph Torigian. The cleaning men took the public keepers to the cleaners with a 30-hit barrage, highlighted by a 19-run fourth inning. Even a Dutchman couldn't have plugged the dikes.

Mike Clark got the mound win, though yielding 13 free passes. The Stumblers were gunned by third sacker Mercelli's two hits.

Richfield's Bob Hood, protégé of oil magnate Frank Monte, closed the door on Shannon with a three-hitter. Clean-up man Matzch and third sacker Mikey DeBernardi collected five of the seven Richfield hits.

Don Mossi In All-Star Go Tuesday

Southpaw Don Mossi, Daly City's only big leaguer, will perform for the American League team next Tuesday in the majors' annual All-Star game.

DON MOSSI ... AL roster

The Jeff High graduate, in his fourth year with Cleveland, has a 5-2 mound record. Normally a reliever, he has taken a regular starting turn since ace Tribe lefty Herb Score was sidelined.

Mossi's use in the All-Star game by Al skipper Casey Stengel marks the first time a local player has appeared in the classic.

Don, 27, recently moved from Daly City to Redwood City. He works during the off season for Joe Sarto, proprietor of the Villa Sanitarium here.

Sarto gave Don his start on the sandlots. He later encouraged Mossi to attend USC, believing that a college education—first—is better than booming right into the professional game.

Sarto is working with a committee, composed of two members of the board of supervisors, to bring major league baseball to San Mateo county. The SM county group is awaiting results of San Francisco negotiations prior to making a second all-out push for big league ball.

Sarto believes climate, transportation facilities, and location give San Mateo county the advantage over San Francisco's fog-swept, poorly situated south basin site near Ocean View playground.

CLASSES OPEN IN ARCHERY, BASEBALL BOXING, TUMBLING

City Department of Parks and Recreation and the Jefferson Elementary school district announced today that special classes in archery, junior baseball and boxing and tumbling are under way at most of the playgrounds throughout the area.

The archery program, which started last Monday, will continue throughout summer vacation.

Archery instruction is given four days a week at Frankfort park, Colma school, Westlake park, Marchbanks park and Benjamin school.

All classes are instructed by William Short, who has been giving archery instructions at War Memorial building the past three months. Children interested in archery and who have not signed up are urged to do so with their playground directors.

Archery schedule: Monday, Frankfort park, 10:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; Monday, Colma school, 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.; Tuesday, Westlake park, 9:30 a.m. to 12 p.m.; Wednesday, Marchbanks park, 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.; Friday, Benjamin Franklin, 9:30 a.m. to 12 p.m.

Boxing and tumbling schedule: Monday, Westlake park, 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.; Tuesday, Crocker school, 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m.; Frankfort park, 3:15 to 4:30 p.m.; Wednesday, War Memorial building, 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.; Friday, Ben Franklin school, 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m.; and Colma school, 3:15 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Playgrounds Offer Myriad Of Summer Rec Activities

Frankfort Playground

A nature trip by the children of Frankfort was of great interest to all. Maay rocks and various plants were taken back to the playground for study. The rocks were painted and given as (paper weights) gifts to parents.

A special thank you is extended to Mrs. John Kenny for her donation of equipment.

Crocker School

Week of June 24 to 28 found 110 children registered. The week began with a story-telling hour. The leader intends to use a tape recorder for further enjoyment of the children.

The two high points of the week were a movie, at which 134 children were present, and a trip to the Zoo, an all-day outing, in which 48 Crocker children, ranging from 8 to 12, participated.

In Arts and Crafts, many children were interested in basket weaving. In sports, a soft ball team for boys, 12 and under, was organized. Crocker school expects to be a major contender in the Daly City League. The girls are interested in forming a volleyball team.

Boys and girls, large and small, are looking forward to the boxing and tumbling program which began Tuesday, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Lincoln

Second week of the summer recreation program has just concluded at Lincoln playground. Activities conducted during the week were varied and for all age levels. On Monday, afternoons at 1 p.m. story telling is held for younger children. This activity is a weekly affair for the entire program held every Monday at 1 o'clock. On Wednesday mornings, movies are shown for Lincoln playground children at Crocker school, Wednesday afternoons at 2 p.m. in arts and crafts time, and this past week straw basket weaving was held. Thursday is special activity day. A trip to the Zoo kicked it off.

Other activities during the week are basketball, volleyball, softball, kickball, tetherball, ping-pong, and checkers. The playground will be closed on July 4.

Jefferson School

Jefferson school recreation club got off a good start last week. Thanks to Steve Adams, 56 Mateo avenue, for all the funny books, and Michael Cords, 156 Drake street, for the records. Linda Callan, 188 Werner avenue, won 18 "Around the World" games in a row and finished the day with a total of 49 wins. Thanks to Mrs. Gomez for the wonderful stories.

Edgewood Playground

Basket weaving started, June 24, at our second session of Arts and Crafts. Twenty hand prints in shadow box frames were brought home by the younger children.

The 1957 Edgewood championship list was started by Jimmy Caruso, followed closely by Tommy Enberg and Victor Kulik, in our Junior Olympics. Winner of the age group 10 years and under was won by Mike Steele, with the DeBernardi twins, Mark and Matt, coming in second and third. Judy Reed competed with Vickie Alvarez to win for older girls. Lena Enberg, Janet Pope, and Diane Caruso won consecutively in the 10 years and under age group. Tiny Tots' dash was won by Tommy McEvoy. July 9 is our cake baking contest with all girls and boys of all ages invited to enter. Contact recreation leader at the playground.

Westlake Park

On Tuesday, July 9, at 1, Westlake park will host a Girls' Cake Bake. Any girl is eligible to participate. Future husbands of Westlake will act as the judges. Prizes will be awarded for the best tasting, best texture and best appearance.

Next week will be "Fun Week" at the park. Folk dancing, held on Fridays at 1, continues to gain in popularity. Michael Kellen, Linda Pomeroy, Paul Geisler and Carol Solari can be seen dancing right in step with the music.

Marchbanks Park

Inside the clubhouse, the game-room is filled with checkers, experts, pick-up sticks, players, and domino fans. Coloring is a favorite pastime of many, including Margie and Sharon Machael. Bingo has become the rage with the younger set. Even six year olds, such as Karen May, are becoming avid fans.

Ping-pong is another popular activity. Rick Craig was one of the first to put our brand-new table to use. A pingpong tournament began this week and will continue throughout next week.

The afternoon arts and crafts classes have had large attendances, and several projects have been completed. Lorraine and Bonnie Panella made very clever three-dimensional colored paper faces. Last week the children made baskets. Fine products were completed by Bobby Rasmussen and Kenny Iwahashi. The younger children have enjoyed making chalk drawings and finger paintings.

Also some interesting effects were achieved by the Hunley children—Evelyn, Veronica and Jimmy—by combining the use of crayon and black paint. Future arts and crafts classes will include such activities as copper-tooling, pyroclase braiding, clay jewelry and paper mache.

Most popular event at the upper level playground areas has been a game called carrom. Many games are possible on the Carrom board, however, at present carrom pool holds top spot, and is attracting enthusiastic players.

Thirty-two boys began a checker-pool tournament last week which produced some highly skilled matches. Among survivors for the championship are: John Lobsinger, Carl Carpenter, Rick Craig, Pete Garcia, George Ambrosio and Lucky Crist are favored to win the "shoe" tourney.

Future tournaments include "hole in one" horseshoe pitch, best o'live free throwing, obstacle race, checkers, and chess.

Community Center

Thirty-four children from the War Memorial building left Daly City about 10 Thursday morning for SF Zoo. Bob Mossi, Jack and Beverly Kearney, and Marion Gluck enjoyed monkey island best of all. Barry Morgan and Mary Smith weren't particular—they liked the whole trip. Thanks go to Danny Craig for all the help on the trip. Possible additions to the summer program at the deck shuffleboard and a junior size billiard table.

War Memorial building are

Every Tuesday, from 10 a.m. to noon, we have movies at the Community Center. This week "Abbott and Costello Meet Captain Kidd."

Olympia School

At Olympia this week, following boys signed up for a softball team: Joel Wine, Ernie Massola, Ronald Restivo, Frank Cesena, Michael Spiegelman, Robert Bertolani, Clay Stringer, George Magill, Jimmy Ensen, John Quandt and Stephen Evans. First practice was held on Friday.

A table tennis tournament, for boys and girls between 7 to 11, was played Friday morning. Twenty persons entered the play-offs, with these results: John Quandt, first place; Gary Majourau, second, and George Magill, third.

A table tennis tournament for youngsters 12 to 16 also was held. Reaching the playoffs: Gary Attell, Denny Cosgrove, Jerry Tissier, Ron Locke, Neal Locke, Dave Gehre, Jimmy Ensten and John Wilson. Gehre took first, Neal Locke second, and Gary Attell third.
